

Faculty disclosures

Dr Mark W. Elliott has received honoraria, travel and subsistence expenses for lecturing for Resmed, Phillips Respironics, Agir a Dom and has received stock options from Curative Medical Inc. These companies are all involved in home ventilation including for COPD.

Dr Michelle Chatwin has received fees for lecturing and workshops: B&D Electromedical and ResMed. She has received funding via an Educational grant from ResMed via the Royal Brompton Hospital. This was to produce in collaboration with the ERS and ResMed the ERS NIV simulation project: <http://www.ers-education.org/e-learning/simulators.aspx>. She has also received honorarium for the review and advice of the clinical guidelines for the NiPPY Clearway 2.

Prof. Stefano Nava – Breas/Philips advisory board.

Prof. Dr. Wolfram Windisch's institution has received open research grants from companies dealing with mechanical ventilation. He has received speaking fees from companies dealing with mechanical ventilation.